VOLUME 9, NUMBER 7

JUNE-AUGUST 1985

Effective April 17,

Section 15, CHARTER OF RIGHTS

On April 17, 1895 all Canadians became equal before and under the law, with the right to equal protection and equal benefit of the law. On that date Section 15, the equality section of the Charter of Rights came into force. Never again will gov'ts, either provincial or federal, be able to pass laws like those that in the past denied Japanese Canadians the right to vote, to serve in the armed forces, to become teachers or civil servants or to hold a fishing licence.

Well - almost never.

There are two problems with Canada's Charter of Rights. Firstly, Section 15, the equality section, can be over-ridden by Section 33, which permits gov'ts to pass laws that operate even if they discriminate. Gov'ts can still pass laws like those above by inserting the words "Notwithstanding Section 15 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms" in the law. More importantly Cabinet under the War Measures Act probably has that power too. That means that almost everything done to Japanese Canadians in the Second WW could be done again.

But there is one important difference. Section 1 of the Charter makes the rights and freedoms in it subject only to reasonable limits demonstrably justifiable in a free and democratic society. That means that a gov't that passes discriminatory laws must justify those laws if challenged.

Importantly, the Supreme Court of Canada has recently stated that even Cabinet decisions can be reviewed if challenged under the Charter. All of the above means that a future Cabinet could pass orders like those that abused Japanese Canadians during the Second WW but, unlike the wartime experience, those orders could be challenged in a court of law.

What does it mean
to us?

SCHOLARSHIP & AWARD TIME

The EJCA Scholarship & Award Committee is being readied for its selection duties. Application deadline is again August 31 (postmark); High School grads and post-secondary students.

Contact the EJCA secretary for application form; all applications must be completed on the form. At the same time the regulations will be sent. Part of the conditions are:

Purpose: to honor students who have achieved a high academic standing while making social contributions in extra-curricular (incl. community) activities.

Eligibility: persons of Japanese ancestry whose parents or self have been EJCA members for the past three years. 70 or 6.5 GPA.

EJCA Secretary: Martin Kaga, 436-8918
11011 - 32 Ave., T6J 3N3

Japanese Americans had that right and, using it, their exile only lasted 3 years. The exile of Japanese Canadians lasted 7 years.

The second problem is that the Charter probably applies only to govts. Individuals who discriminate probably cannot be challenged under the Charter of Rights. That means that to stop discrimination by individuals, the person who has been discriminated against must depend on human rights legislation like Alberta's Individual's Rights Protection Act. But human rights legislation is notoriously weak. It takes a long time to get action under such laws and the Commissions created to protect human rights have few enforcement powers.

While the Charter has helped, it will not rid Canadian society of discrimination. Education, vigilance and strong human rights legislation are needed if all Canadians are to receive the rights set out in the Charter.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Henry Shimizu

On May 25th I attended my first regional meeting of the new Canadian Multiculturalism Council. There were 17 present representing the Prairies and the NWT. Next to Ontario with 19, we are the largest regional Council. This Council was appointed by the Dept. of the Sec'y of State, and the Minister of Multiculturalism, Jack Murta.

The appointments are on the basis of geographical, ethnic and experience of the members in the field of multicultural activities. Individually, we are not representing any particular organization, but are on the Council to present the views and experiences of the different ethnic groups in Canada. There are two Japanese Canadians, J. Kojima of B.C. and myself, on the Council. It will be our task to bring to the Council and to the federal government, the views, concerns and suggestions of the Japanese Canadians throughout Canada.

In Alberta, the ethnic groups other than Anglo-Saxons or French represent about 52-54 percent of the total population. Thus, the importance of the multicultural aspect of our society! Moreover, this sizeable group is growing proportionately larger with immigration and natural increase.

The Canadian Multiculturalism Council is to play an advisory role to the Minister, Jack Murta. At present I am not sure how influential the Council will be in affecting the policies of the Federal Government. However, it will be up to the members of this Council to strive to make our presence felt by the present government.

I will be happy at this time to welcome suggestions and concerns from our readers. 0X0X0 135 Quesnell Cres. T5R 5P1

Japanese Flea Market at HERITAGE DAYS FESTIVAL, August 4 & 5

EJCA craft group is planning to set up a "Japanese Flea Market" table at the Heritage Days Festival, Aug. 4 & 5. If you have some used Japanese things stashed away in your cupboards or closets, such as mismatched tea cups, rice bowls, plates, lacquer wares, room decorating items (wall hangings, norens, etc.), gifts from Japan you don't like that much, and small items that you no longer use but are unable to throw away, please donate them to the craft group.

OPEN HOUSE FOR OTTAWA'S

KAY KATE SHIMIZU, Sunday June 16, 7:30 PM

On Sunday June 16, 1985, at 7:30 PM, Kay Shimizu, widow of Kunio Shimizu, will be the guest of honor at an open house on redress at the Sunahara's, 9754 - 90 Avenue, Edmonton (433-8104). Come and meet her.

Those who had passed through Hastings Park in 1942 will remember Kay as the only Japanese Canadian social worker at that time and one of the Nisei who worked so hard to help the uprooted in those troubled times.

Recently retired after over three decades in the federal civil service, Kay will be focusing increasingly on redress and Japanese Canadian affairs.

OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN ODORI

Mrs. Keiko Frueh, odori instructor, is looking for people to participate in the demonstrations of Japanese Folk Dances (min-yo odori) at the Heritage Days Festival.

If you are over six years of age and are capable of walking, and would like to stretch your arms and legs and move around with Japanese music in the background, please contact Mrs. Frueh. You can be young or old, man or woman, you don't have to be Japanese and don't have to own a yukata (summer kimono), which will be worn at the demonstrations. Mrs. K. Frueh's phone number is 436-5843. Give her a ring and find out what you're missing.

IF SO, CONTACT GEORGE TSURUDA

Alberta Dept. of Culture recently did a survey of businesses and professionals. Want to know some info for Red Deer and north? George has the listing. Call him at 475-7147.

Thinking of getting into the trade business? Membership in the Alberta Pacific Rim Trade and Economic Development Ass'n is $15 per year. Contact George for more info.

If things are labeled when brought in, it will be a help. If you have any items to donate, please hand them to any member of the craft group or bring them to our annual picnic on the 23rd of June. We will set up a place for the donations. If we can help you reorganize your cupboards and closets this way, isseki nicho (with one stone, kill two birds).

TWO GOLDS and a SILVER at VIVA '85

The Japanese Village chefs were awarded two gold medals and a silver at the recent VIVA '85, Canada's International Celebration of Good Taste, held at the Agricom.

HIROSHI YOSHIDA won a gold medal for the category in hot dishes. He created six dinner dishes which featured prawn and lobster.

SUMI YODA was presented a gold medal for the cold platter category. His picturesque presentation included a variety of sushi and steamed fish.

A silver medal was awarded to HIROAKI SADASUE for his creation a cold platter, which featured an oke (bucket) carved from daikon, a Japanese white radish, and an artistic presentation of stuffed chicken.

Strict guidelines had to be followed. Six pieces of work were compulsory and only edible materials could be used, and, no artificial colouring was allowed. For displaying the magnificent creations, cedarwood, mirrors and kimono were used and the dishes were made of pottery.

Competition was very keen with entries submitted from various cities across Canada and major hotels and local colleges.

CONGRATULATIONS to the master chefs!

Study to Assess Econ. Losses Initiated

The NAJC is pleased to announce today (May 16, 1985) an agreement with Price Waterhouse to complete a Socio-Economic Study to assess losses suffered by Canadians of Japanese origin as a result of wartime injustices. This decision on the part of NAJC to require a by an independent agency prior to a redress settlement with the government affirms the organization's efforts to place on record, for the benefit of all Canadians, the nature and extent of losses.

At community meetings in Japanese Canadian communities across Canada during the past three months, the NAJC was encouraged to seek a professionally determined estimate of the impact of the forced uprooting, incarceration, confiscation and liquidation of properties, belongings and businesses during the war, and the post-war dispersal across Canada. The struggle to redress those injustices must be based on an authoritative assessment of the socio-economic impact on those who were affected.

Last month, NAJC President Art Miki met with the Hon. Jack Murta, Minister of Multiculturalism, to discuss the NAJC's request for a socio-econ. study and was informed that the gov't had decided against support for such a study. Admitting its educational and historical value, Mr. Murta commented that the gov't did not favor compensation to Japanese Canadians and that their support of the study could commit them to compensation.

In spite of the gov't reneging on its earlier agreement to fund such a survey, the NAJC will raise its own funds to conduct this important study.

In the works: AN AUTUMN NATIONAL COUNCIL MTG

Plans are underway for a very crucial National Council meeting early this Fall. Decisions on various fronts will need to be made, and NAJC must be prepared to move the negotiation process to the front burners.

The Price Waterhouse socio-economic loss survey is scheduled to be completed by then, and reports of the working committees will be shaping up. Focus on readying the Nat'l Council for the deliberations and decisions is making a very busy summer for some.

We are fortunate to be here at this important and crucial period. We must truly rise to the occasion, as surely we will.

Where do we go from here?

NAJC Committees Actively Working

While the negotiation sessions with the gov't is currently on the back burner, NAJC president Art Miki remains in continuous contact with them, maintaining an open-door policy on the part of NAJC.

• In the meantime the Negotiating Team has met twice to firm up its strategies and working papers, plus one telephone conference. The decision to initiate the econ. loss study, approved by the National Council via a phone check, is just one of the actions.

• A budget is being prepared for the remainder of the year to facilitate firming organizational network, and to allow important projects like retaining the firm of Price Waterhouse. A two-tier budget is in the development process: an organizational component (which will not be tax-deductible) and a section for the Society for Japanese Canadian Studies, tax-deductible. This program is essential in order for Japanese Canadians not to be entirely dependent upon gov't funding for its endeavors. Details will be circulated to all JC centres soon.

• A continuing national newsletter, probably bi-monthly, is being studied. Production and postage raises the cost of each issue to approximately $2,000. But NAJC feels it is essential to maintain communication, and there is no other way. Already communication break-down has caused tragic misunderstandings and unnecessary in-fighting at a time when all effort is needed to focus on our national effort.

• Additionally, there is a working committee organizing public education options and materials, including the enlisting of artists and writers, school kits, traveling shows, and the like.

• Each community needs to strengthen its own network, along with what's going on in the national front. Accordingly, house mtgs have been planned in various communities, and some are coming off in Edmonton as well.

• It will take more than volunteer officers to man such a program. So NAJC is advertising for a full-time co-ordinator and a part-time assistant to direct this national endeavor, subject, of course, to successful fundraising (mentioned above).

• With our own community strengthened, we will need to communicate more effectively with the community at large, for we are Canadians and our programs are to promote that which is good for Canada, including the redress movement.

Roy Ito, We Went To War, 1984, 330 pp.

. . . Throughout his book, Mr. Ito attempts to be scrupulously fair in his historical judgement but beneath the reasoned prose one can sense the seething outrage of a native son betrayed by the country of his birth. War, the most savage of acts in the human drama, strips human motivation to its meanest essence: the racist forces in B.C. knew full well the falsity of the government's argument - national security and protective custody be damned! . . . like jackals falling upon a helpless prey, they wanted nothing less than the complete obliteration of the Japanese Canadian presence on the Pacific coast. To the everlasting shame of this proud and democratic nation they were singularly successful and the tragedies documented in this book lend credence to that most despairing and nihilistic of responses to the redress question: no apology, no amount of compensation can atone for such humiliation, suffering and obscene betrayal. . . . Tamio Wakayama, Vancouver JCCA Bulletin. $16.95

NAJC Brief, Democracy Betrayed, 1984, 26 pp.

. . . I have had time to peruse the brief at some length, and find it to be an excellent document for the purposes of the Law Library. It contains an objective overview of the problem, with reference to the major legislation involved as well as reference to the Charter of Rights. I particularly liked the reference to the question of failure of the government of Canada to fulfill their trust obligations, as that is a matter which is very much prevalent in jurisprudence in Canada, at this time, particularly with Indian land claims. The document is also interesting as it presents the point of view of the people involved in a very succinct and meaningful way. Also, we appreciate the bibliography and list of secondary sources, which we find very helpful often for users that are doing work in this area. . . . Neil A. 一歩も中ずらない頑固な所もある様に思えます。言葉の点でも(会話は余り聞きとれませが)言い回しが少ない様なのでダイレクトな会話は、日本に住み馴れた私としては心痛む一年でした。

日本人の考え方でいけばそのオープンな所も心の中では何を考えているのか、と疑ぐわたりしますが、そういう所があるのかなのか、一年たってもまだわかりませんが、もしあつたとしても「表の社会」は日本人(日本国)も学ぶべきだと思いました。

また、カタタ人は日本を、日本人をどう思っているかについては中国系・インディアン日本人と頭の黒い人々の中にも「優遇されている」と感じましたが、これは日本の工業技術、科学技術が進んでいるからだとカタタに来た当時は考えていたのですが一概には言えず、ピンチャークリークの日系カタタ人は町の人々に「心底」親しまれているのを見て日本人ではなく本場のカタタ人だと痛感しました。

テレビについてもトヨタ、ニッサンなどの日本のメーカーがコマーシャルなどによく出て来ますが、日本の、と言っより国を越えた世界のメーカーだなど感じました。ショーの中でも日本の流行だとか日本国内で行なわれている事、事件

なども見ると事が出来、本当に世界は狭く、日本に関心のある人達が多く居る事を知りました。

このホストファミリーの子供達は日本の「ニンジャ」に興味を持っていますが日本ではそれほ大人気はなくむしろ中国拳法やカンフーに興味を持っています。他国に興味を持つのはどの国でも同じでしょう。

カタタに住んで一番考えさせられた事はカタタが多民族国家で公用語も二種類、食品、日用品などはすべて二ヶ国語でラベルが書かれています。多くの民俗文化の伝統を持ち、パレード(カルガリースタンピード)ではインディアンのカラフルな衣装、スストラント系のバグパイプなど一つの国とは思えないほど国際的ななあと思いますが、カタタらしいなあと思えました。

多民族がゆえの有利点や短所も考えられますが私はカタタは世界を一つにする「ミニシアネア」だと思っ様になり、世界中の歴史が共存した国は国内はもとより国外にも有利な立場にある様に思いました。きっとカタタは世界中の国と外交を持つのではないかと思えます。
